Winterville, NC (March 6, 2023) – ONLINE Collections, a leader in debt collections for the healthcare industry, has announced their plan to exhibit at the Medical Practice Excellence: Financial and Operations Conference, hosted by the Medical Group Management Association (MGMA). The conference will be held March 19-21 at the Hyatt Regency Grand Cypress in Orlando, Florida.

For the first year ever, MGMA is offering two business tracks for both finance and operations, giving conference attendees the option to explore the topics that best suit their individual needs. The combined event will also feature the largest Solution Center offered at an MGMA spring event. On the floor, attendees can speak with a variety of consulting solutions providers and network with industry peers.

Throughout the course of the three-day in-person conference, ONLINE will showcase their industry-leading debt collection services and how their proprietary Exchange Advantage allows them to contact more patients with greater success than traditional agencies.

“As a long-time supporter and member of MGMA, we are excited to attend this year’s event” said Gordon Pettit, Strategic Healthcare Executive for ONLINE. “I’m looking forward to sharing ONLINE’s unique capabilities and track record of success serving hundreds of healthcare clients with attendees during the conference.”

The conference will be a place for healthcare professionals to discuss the latest trends and challenges in medical practice finance and operations through more than 45 speakers covering topics including business intelligence, advertising data analysis, compensation, productivity, government affairs and more.
